Fall Interim Business Meeting

5 Tenth Month 2024

Saint Petersburg Friends Meetinghouse
and Online

MINUTES

The clerk opened the meeting at 8:59 a.m. with the following quote:

And do not strive about outward things; but dwell in the love of God, for that will unite you together and make you kind and gentle towards one another; and to seek one another's good and welfare, and to be helpful to one another, and to see that nothing is lacking among you, then all will be well.

George Fox 1676

Thereafter the Meeting entered silent worship.

Announcements

Susan Wade offered hard copies of the new 2024-2025 SEYM Directories on hand for anyone who would like one. She informed those in attendance that .pdf copies of that Directory were also available upon emailed request to office@seym.org.

Eileen Zingaro announced that the building where Clearwater Friends meet had been destroyed by Hurricane Milton and that Beverly Ward's presentation will now be made at the Dunedin Public Library, at 3:00 p.m. on October 19. Flyers were available.

Nominating Committee Report

Brian Olson reported that there were no changes from yesterday's Executive Committee meeting. Their major concern was to fill positions for Gathering Clerk and Co-Clerk and Gathering Registrar. They were also seeking a person for QUNO representative. Friends were encouraged to express interest in those and other positions to Brian, Beverly Ward, Shawna Doran, or Ed Lesnick.

Friends accepted the report.

The Meeting then adjourned at 10:00 a.m., to allow committees to meet.

At 11:06 a.m., Friends returned for the Monthly Meeting Open Forum and discussion. After a few moments of silence, the Clerk asked Friends to offer and to consider how Spirit is working in their meetings and in their lives.

Amy Richards reported on Friends in several areas who were adversely impacted by Hurricane Helene.

The Clerk reported that Saint Petersburg Meeting seemed to be doing pretty well after hurricane Helene. There is still a great deal of damage in the city of Saint Petersburg from flooding. He and Vicki had just returned from Burnsville, NC, in the Appalachian Mountains where there was considerable damage from Helene. They hadn't been able to get in touch with the caretaker for Vicki's father since Hurricane Helene had gone through. Some limited cell service had been restored by the time they left. They, personally, were very lucky. Some people had to be plucked off of mountains by helicopter. Black Mountain was one of the many disaster areas in NC. Bill and Vicki came back to find their home in St. Petersburg in working order.

Diana Langan reported that her brother had been walking the Appalachian Trail when the hurricane went through. For a few days she did not know where he was. It turned out that he was able to get the last flight out from Tri-City Airport. Until that news, they were very worried.

Brian Olson reported that Miami/Dade County was very lucky. There were no effects from the Hurricane Helene. Schools stayed open. They had a little extra rain but were otherwise fine. He had a relative who lived East of Asheville, NC, however. That area had been devastated.

John Palozzi reported that although attendance has been sparse at Palm Beach Meeting, but use of the meetinghouse has been high - with lots of kids from a home school group continuing to use it. However, neither the students nor their parents attended meeting. Two AA and two AI Anon groups and various other community groups also meet there once per week. He is hoping that with all of the traffic, some of the people visiting the Meetinghouse will also join them for worship on Sunday morning.

Jim Cain gave a report on DeLand Quaker Meeting. They are moving ahead. As of yesterday, they have a bank account and plans for getting insurance. They were still distributing banned books, maintaining their homeless ministry, and staying in contact with the LGBTQ community. They were preparing to accept members who are transferring their membership from other monthly meetings, and to consider new applications for membership.

Phil Stone reported from Clearwater Friends Meeting. The building where they meet was severely damaged by flooding. They were looking for a new place to meet. In the interim, they might be meeting in people's homes. They are small in numbers. They have also been engaged in interfaith gatherings for about three years.

Richard Frechette, of Fort Myers Monthly Meeting, reported that they are still without a meeting house. They currently meet in an outdoor structure (Chickee Hut) on their former meeting site, when weather permits. They are very close to receiving a development order to start construction of their new Meeting House on property owned by the Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Fort Myers. They expect to have a meeting house to move into by spring.

Neil Andersen, from Tallahassee Monthly Meeting, reported there had been no damage to the Meetinghouse or to them personally from hurricane Helene. In May, however, three tornados touched down at about the same time. Those tornadoes demolished the clerk's residence. He has since been living in contingency housing. They had just put a new roof on the Meetinghouse. The roof was damaged. There was also some tree damage. Their attendance has increased, notwithstanding the damage and the weather, drawing from residents in the neighborhood. They now include some former pastors among their new attenders.

Warren Hoskins, also of Tallahassee Monthly Meeting, added that their committees have continued to work well. They have also become a sister meeting with a monthly meeting in England. They were getting ready for next year's vegetable garden. They have a regular craft activity, "Crafternoon", to demonstrate and improve their crafting skills. They are developing a strong sense of community. Major renovations are being made to their adjacent road and people can't easily get to the meeting house. Neil added that it reminded him of a meetinghouse in England in 1615. It was located on an inaccessible dirt road.

Amy Richards reported the news that yet another hurricane was headed toward the Florida Gulf Coast. It was forecast to hit next week as a Category 2 hurricane.

Brian Olson reported that Miami Monthly Meeting was in a gradual upswing. There has been an increase in attenders, one of whom was an accomplished musician. Four children were now attending regularly. Their Peace and Social Concerns Committee is well-attended and very active.

Jim Cain reported on a workshop he had attended about preventing election-related violence. DeLand Quaker Meeting was very concerned about how to handle such violence. He asked what other Meetings were doing to prepare for that eventuality.

Brian Olson said that Miami Monthly Meeting had also been very concerned about election violence. That was one of the reasons their P&SC had been so active. They are also considering how to engage with the Christian Nationalists. People do not understand that not all denominations are alike. He said they were encouraging Early Voting to minimize exposure to any violence. They are trying to be alert, aware and prepared, by staying in conversation with other people.

Brian Humphrey referred to another group, the ACLU, and to their website, for additional information on that potential election violence.

Vickie Carlie noted that George Lakey's website "Choose Democracy" was active again. It also provides some helpful resources related to preventing election violence.

Brian Olson seeks to avoid confrontation by not arguing with others, but to instead encourage people to vote. He reminded us that Monday (October 7) was the deadline for voter registration for this election.

Brandon Caldecott, of Saint Petersburg Meeting also heard a speaker talk about preventing election violence. He recommended an organization called Braver Angels, as being an excellent resource for, and approach to, preventing violence.

Amy Richards reminded us that what often affects both sides in a conflict is Fear.

The Meeting Forum closed with silence at 11:54 a.m.

The Clerk announced that we would reconvene at 1:00 PM, after lunch, for Fall Interim Business Meeting.

Business Meeting opened from the silence at 1:01 p.m.

No corrections or additions were made to the Agenda as published in Documents in Advance (DIAs).

The Roll Call of Meetings was completed.

Nominating Committee Report (addendum)

Brian Olson reported that two people have offered to co clerk for the Gathering and another has offered to be the Registrar for the Gathering. A volunteer offering to serve as representative to QUNO has also come forward. Nominating with confer with all of them. Beverly Ward was also nominated to join as a member of the Archives Committee and her nomination was approved. There will be an update on their report at WIBM.

Friends accepted the report.

24FIBM01 Beverly Ward's nomination to the Archives Committee is accepted.
APPROVED

Finance Committee

Dan Vaughn clerk informed the meeting there was no report.

Treasurer's Report

Joel Cook gave the Treasurer's report (attached) for the fiscal year ending on 31 Fifth Month 2024. He suggested that if many people regularly gave a small amount of money each month, the cost of the new Youth and Young Adult Coordinator position would be fully funded.

Friends accepted the report.

Trustees' Report

Neil Andersen, clerk, reported that contributions from funds under the Trustees' care have been made to support the 2024 Yearly Meeting expenses, and salaries for the Youth and Young Adult Coordinator and the Field Secretary for Earthcare. The Trustees were also considering a request from a monthly meeting for support for the construction of a new meetinghouse.

Friends accepted the report.

Worship and Ministry Committee Report

Lisa Erazmus encouraged everyone to read the committee's written report in the DIAs. The committee have found a Michener Lecturer: Adria DiCapua (formerly Gulizia) and that Joel Cook would be providing an additional workshop, the details of which would be announced on website.

Friends accepted the report.

Gathering Committee Report

Vicki Carlie reported that the Gathering will again be held at the DaySpring Episcopal Conference Center, Parrish, Florida. Rashid Darden of Friends General Conference will be the Walton Lecturer and Retreat Leader. Further information will be forthcoming.

Friends accepted the report.

Field Secretary for Earthcare Report

Beverly Ward gave highlights from her written report (attached). Email her if you would like a copy. It will be posted on the SEYMquakers.org website. She has been and will continue posting on eNews. She confirmed the date of her program in Clearwater and Eileen Zingaro offered flyers describing Beverly's upcoming presentation in Clearwater.

Look for her recent articles on the website, and on eNews. Also, the Quaker Earthcare Witness (QEW) report is now available.

Friends accepted the report.

Youth and Young Adult Coordinator (YYAC) Report

Rachel Dellinger, the new YYAC, was introduced and referred to her report (attached). She offered help to Meetings and Worship Groups with social media and youth activities. She was collecting some ideas for, and looking forward to, the Gathering. She was happy to be here. Contact her by email: YYAC@seymquakers.org.

Friends accepted her report.

Friends World Committee for Consultation (FWCC) Representative's Report

Joel Cook reported that the Gathering of the Section of the Americas was scheduled for March 20 to 23, 2025, in Arizona. There is likely to be a FWCC Young Adult Gathering before that meeting. Please spread the word. SEYM has budgeted $17,000 to send representatives to International Quaker gatherings. For example, Joel was able to use part of those funds to attend the FWCC World Conference in South Africa. He recommended that some of the funds in the Yearly Meeting budget for international travel be allocated for the purpose of sending a young adult to the FWCC Section of the Americas Gathering in Arizona.

24FIBM02 Funds set aside for SEYM representative travel to international Quaker gatherings may be used to send a young adult representative to the Friends World Committee for Consultation, Section of the Americas, gathering in Arizona in March 2025.

APPROVED.

Peace & Social Concerns Committee

No report was submitted.

Committee for Ministry on Racism Report

Kathy Hersh asked Friends to read the committee's report (attached) and gave brief highlights from that report as it relates to Quaker participation in the Native American Boarding Schools project. Quaker involvement in those schools continued until as late as 1970. She then read a proposed minute for adoption by FIBM.

24FIBM03 Southeastern Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends of Truth responds to the call from the National Native American Boarding School Healing Coalition and the Decolonizing Quakers Working Group as presented by the Committee for Ministry on Racism. We further realize that we have an obligation to this process of investigation and amends regardless of any monetary support we historically may or may not have provided. Beverly Ward, a member of SEYM's Committee for Ministry on Racism, will coordinate the research and report any pertinent findings.

APPROVED

Half Yearly Meeting Report

Brian Olson reported that plans for the event were on schedule and urged everyone to attend, especially parents with children and young adults.

There will be no access to the kitchen this year and most meals will be catered by Guest Services as mandated by the Florida State Parks. We will be allowed to use the dining hall. People are discouraged to bring their own food. If food is brought it CANNOT be left in your vehicle because of bears. No alcohol is allowed in the camp.

We have the use of a new building this year. It is a nicer building with 4 or 5 bedrooms with 2 beds in each. As in the past, Half Yearly Meeting will be held at Wekiva Springs State Park in the Youth Camp. Attenders will likely see turkey, deer, and maybe a bear. (Do not leave food in the car.) It is a pretty place. There are no business meetings though there is an opportunity for informal business discussions, if desired. The time is just for fun and fellowship, games and hikes. There will be an environmental program and nature walks.

The cost is "pay as led" to encourage everyone to attend, regardless of cost.

Friends accepted the report.

Youth Committee

No report was provided.

Earthcare Committee Report

Brian Humphrey submitted a written report (attached) and further urged greater coordination between the Earthcare committees with the wider Quaker world.

Friends accepted the report.

The Clerk called for a ten-minute break at 2:30 p.m.

-End of Minutes recorded by Daniel Vaughen. Beginning of Minutes recorded by Eileen Zingaro.-

Quaker Call Committee (QCC) Report

Dan Vaughen, committee clerk, gave background on the work and directive of the SEYM Quaker Call Committee which formed at the 2023 Fall Interim Business Meeting. Dan read the minute proposed by the Committee. A copy of the proposed minute is in the QCC report (attached).

The discussion following was extensive, thoughtful, and lead by Spirit.

There was ongoing discussion among Friends that there was not enough information given to the Meetings and that not all the Meetings knew anything about a proposed school. Many felt a need for more time for discernment of a minute. The part of the minute that included a request that SEYM be a signatory on a Covenant signed by Fort Myers Unitarian Universalist Church (FMUUC) and Fort Myers Monthly Meeting (FMMM) presented a concern.

It was suggested that we approve the "idea" of the minute and wait until all Meetings have the opportunity to discern this issue. Many feel that proper Quaker order was not being followed and that this minute should be addressed again at Winter Interim Business Meeting and then at the SEYM Yearly Meeting in April. Several Friends stated that making any decision now did not respect Quaker process.

Many Friends responded with comments some of which included:

- Excited about the possibility . . . is $15,000 enough?
- There is need for a Quaker School in Florida.
- How long will this opportunity be open to do this?
- We must have a leap of faith.
- Look at Deland's efforts with banned book distribution. “We were moved by and humbled by the responses from people all over the world. There is no more propitious moment as now.”
- What would be the result of waiting until SEYM Gathering in April?
- This is an exceptional Spiritual goal for a Meeting, but we should respect Quaker process.
- We [SEYM] have a desire to be visible . . . to be a stronger Body
- We need to be responsive to the needs of today.
- It seems that the Way opened to us and this feels Spirit Lead.
- A Quaker Speak video talks about our need to be less exclusive.
- Don't make Quaker process an idol.
- Quaker business process is neither an idol nor is it the enemy of progress. It is a spiritual testimony at the core of life on the Quaker path and a means of building community. It is in unity that the spirit is found. That unity is the foundation on which such projects can succeed.
- All Meetings including Committee Meetings are held in the context of seeking Divine guidance. We should consider carefully the recommendations of the Quaker Call Committee, as we would the sense of any other committee.
- There is no clarity in the information presented as to what the implications of commitment to this covenant may have on future budgets or needs for volunteer service.

After additional discussion it was agreed to divide the original proposed minute into 3 parts:

- 1) SEYM signing the Covenant already agreed upon between the Fort Myers Unitarian Universalist Church, Fort Myers Monthly Meeting
- 2) SEYM donation of $15,000 “seed money” for the school.
- 3) Creating a line item allowing SEYM to accept donations for the School.

Other questions from Friends were in reference to the relationship between the FMUUC and their ability to provide a brick-and-mortar school and their financial condition.

Friends from FMMM explained the layout of the property of the FMUUC which is a large facility including buildings with classrooms which are currently empty. Nevertheless, FMUUC, like many [churches], is not “cash rich” and has seen a decline in their congregation.

A member of FMMM in a recent conversation with the Reverend Sue Gabrielson, FMUUC, was told that the Reverend anticipates an effort by the Unitarian Universalist (UU) Association (their larger organization) to make that space available for rent and that the UU Association may actively seek interested tenants. Reverend Sue, who was a former head of Monteverde Friends School in Costa Rica, is very committed to having a Quaker school on this site but may need to comply with possible Unitarian Universalist Church Association directives.

Friends agreed to accept parts 2 and 3 of the minute now to be acted upon and move decisions on the Covenant [the 1st part of the minute] to Yearly Business Meeting, when Meetings will have had time to discern this issue. Joel Cook, Neil Andersen, and Dan Vaughn conferred on the language of the approved minute.

24FIBM04 Friends authorize the creation of a new accounting fund for the purpose of supporting the establishment of an independent Quaker School at Fort Myers, Florida, as described in the Covenant between Fort Myers Monthly Meeting and the Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Fort Myers. The fund is authorized to receive donations from Southeastern Yearly Meeting, individuals, monthly meetings, and/or outside organizations. Distribution of those funds will be made upon approval of, and direction by, the SEYM Executive Committee, or its designees.

APPROVED

24FIBM05 Friends authorize the Trustees to transfer to the new accounting fund the amount of $15,000 from the unrestricted funds managed by the Trustees.

APPROVED

24FIBM06 Southeastern Yearly Meeting and its Executive Committee thank Saint Petersburg Friends for their warm hospitality during the 04-05 Tenth Month, 2024 meetings.

APPROVED

The meeting closed with silent worship.

Treasurer's Report for 2023 – 2024 Fiscal Year, Fall Interim Business Meeting 2024

All values are rounded to the nearest dollar.

SEYM Total Cash Flow not including Trustees

The overall cash flow of the Yearly Meeting (excluding separately reported accounts under the care of the Trustees) yielded a net loss (excluding unrealized capital gains) of $2,270. This resulted from an SEYM total real income of $172,989 against total expenses of $175,259.

SEYM General Fund for Administration - Cash Flow and Budget Performance

At the end of the fiscal year, the General Fund (the operations fund for which we approved a balanced budget of $115,640 in our 2023 Yearly Meeting sessions) showed a net loss of $1,540. This resulted from General Fund total income of $113,073 (98% of budget) against expenses of $114,614 (99% of budget).

Budget Support Apportionments & Contributions Received

During this fiscal year, in response to the annual request for support of the approved General Fund Budget (the Apportionments), contributions received from the Monthly Meetings and Worship Groups totaled $89,224, or 86% of the year's budgeted request of $103,175.

Fifteen (15) Monthly Meetings and seven (7) Worship Groups were included in the Apportionment request this fiscal year. 11 contributed between 100% or more of their requested amount, 5 contributed between 50% and 80%, and 6 contributed nothing.

The unrestricted individual donations received toward the Budget during this period totaled $5,689 approximately 142% of the $4,000 budgeted amount.

Cash Flow Results for Programs

The annual programs for this fiscal year are complete. There may, however, be some adjustments to these figures.

The Yearly Meeting Gathering and Walton Lecture had an income of $40,766 and expenses of $45,451, yielding a net deficit of $4,686.

Half Yearly Meeting had an income of $3,905 with expenses of $2,366 giving a net surplus of $1,540.

The Michener Lecture had an income of $2,947 with expenses of $1,590 giving a net surplus of $1,358.

Programs for Youth had income of $5,341 with expenses of $1,367 giving a net surplus of $3,974.

The Publications program during this period had a net real loss of $412, excluding unrealized capital gains of $1,410 on investments for the program.

Net Worth

The Net Worth of the combined Yearly Meeting and its Trustees at the end of this period was $640,669, an increase of $56,031 including $52,403 in unrealized capital gains since the beginning of the fiscal year.

Worship and Ministry Committee Report

SEYM Fall Interim Business Meeting

5 Tenth Month 2024

Friends, as we approach autumn and winter, we tend to feel nudges toward reflection of the passing year. As Quakers, a considered view of time, events, or matters of spirit is not unusual, and the committee encourages all to take some moments of peace and grounded-ness to not only hold where we have been, or where we are going, but, in particular, where we are, affirming with each breath the gift of being present, sharing space with the Divine. The Worship and Ministry committee is grateful for having spent this year in service to the Yearly Meeting and providing more opportunities for Friends to be nourished in spirit.

We are in the process of contacting someone to share their ministry for the Michener Lecture. We had another extended Meeting for Worship early in Eighth Month. Having those quarterly has been received positively, with new Friends attending each time.

Weekly Queries for the Journey continue to be a steady source of opportunity for Friends to reflect personally and with Monthly Meetings that also use them regularly. We created a water-themed set of quotes and queries for Bev Ward, SEYM Field Secretary for Earthcare, for her time as Friend of the Week at Quaker House, Chautauqua, New York.

With many meetings offering online options for worship, intervisitation is widely available and simple—Jan and Lisa worshipped with Tallahassee Friends in Seventh Month and appreciated the warm welcome and deep sense of spirit shared by all.

Lively discussion and tender reflections happen with each session of the Seeker's Book Club. In the current book, Abuelita Faith by Kat Armas, women in the margins of Scripture are lifted up next to women of the author's family who taught faith and strength as part of their Cuban culture. People easy to overlook with a modern eye, yet foundational and faithful.

Joel Cook will provide a second presentation of his Yearly Meeting workshop: The Friends We Are Becoming: Stories of Transformation on 19 Tenth Month.

Anne Pomeroy gave the last two sessions of their three-part retreat: Opening Our Hearts to Continuing Revelation (15 Sixth Month) and Walking Forward in Faith (20 Seventh Month). No technical or climate issues impacted these workshops and more Friends were able to participate and share in the strong ministry.

The Worship and Ministry Committee welcomes Friends to visit the SEYM website for information on all spiritual programs and opportunities and to encourage Monthly Meetings and Worship Groups to sign up and participate in any and all online programs that are available.

Blessings,

Jan Dahm, Lisa Erasmus, and Richelle Ogle, co-clerks of the SEYM Worship & Ministry Committee

Youth and Young Adult Coordinator Report

SEYM Fall Interim Business Meeting

5 Tenth Month 2024

I am thrilled to be serving SEYM as the new Youth and Young Adult Coordinator. At last spring's gathering, I was touched by the concerns so many Friends expressed about the spiritual needs of our community's youth. I also sensed the depth of concern for the future of SEYM and the passing of Quaker traditions on to the coming generations. I feel honored to be entrusted with this work and hope to carry it forward by building on the solid foundation laid by my predecessor.

Over the summer, I spent time preparing myself for my upcoming role. Besides meeting with Kody Hersh, my relevant committees, and a group of Quaker young adults, I attended several workshops to help me become more grounded in Quaker and childhood religious education practices. I have also spent time in quiet reflection, asking to be shown the SEYM youth's true priorities and how to most lovingly, creatively, and efficiently address them.

I have begun the work of reaching out to our own youth, Quaker-curious youth, and community partners through social media. I also intend to work with Vickie Carlie to create a page on the SEYM website intended for a youth audience. I am currently in the process of compiling information about Quaker internships, colleges, and summer camps for inclusion on this site.

I have worked with Cheryl Demers to schedule and promote more CAPP trainings and would appreciate as many as are able to sign up. Even if you have no intention of ever volunteering to work with youth, just knowing how to recognize signs of exploitation goes a long way toward making our community safer and more welcoming to children.

I will spend the remainder of 2024 continuing to work closely with the youth of Orlando Monthly Meeting. My role as their First Day School Teacher provides me with ongoing opportunities to learn what being a Quaker means to them and how adults can best support their spiritual growth. I will also be reaching out to families as I prepare for Half-Yearly Meeting and beginning the practice of recognizing children's birthdays and other milestones such as high school graduations.

Over the next year, I intend to visit and worship with as many monthly meetings as possible. Please let me know if there are specific dates that are better than others for me to visit. Please, also let me know if there is anything at all I can do to help you physically, intellectually, or spiritually welcome and nurture the families and children in your meetings.

CMOR REQUESTS SEYM ACTION ON NATIVE AMERICAN BOARDING SCHOOL TRAUMA

The Committee for Ministry on Racism (CMOR) requests that Southeastern Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends of Truth (SEYM) respond to a call from the National Native American Boarding School Healing Coalition and the Decolonizing Quakers Working Group for religious organizations to review their records and to estimate the current value of the contributions made to boarding schools for indigenous children. We are asked to consider — in the light of truth — our current-day responsibility for the psychological damage done in the assimilation era of the Native American boarding schools, 30 of which were established and or administered by the Religious Society of Friends. The time period starts when the first schools were established in the late 1800s and continued until as late as 1970 in some places.

Given SEYM's unique history and resources, this review may extend beyond the existing archives of the Yearly Meeting at the University of Florida. For example, some SEYM Monthly Meetings predate the establishment of the Yearly Meeting and many Friends may have had dual membership or seasonal attendance in other Yearly Meetings. There are resources to assist in this review through the Decolonizing Quakers Working Group and the Quaker Indigenous Boarding Schools (QIBS) – TRR-QIBS Research Network. Beverly Ward has begun the research through her work with the Decolonizing Quakers Working Group and her relationship with Toward Right Relationship with Native Peoples as a member of their advisory board. In recognition of the need for more members on SEYM's Archive Committee, Beverly has nominated herself to that committee and is willing to continue her research and coordinate ongoing research as it relates to SEYM.

CMOR considers this to be essential work in living our testimony of equality and Friends continual search for truth and justice. In doing the research and sharing findings, SEYM has an opportunity to further the work already in progress of FCNL, FGC, QEW, and Toward Right Relationship with Native Peoples. Even though no evidence may turn up of direct or indirect involvement in the boarding school tragedy, Quakers bear responsibility in knowing about the schools and the generational trauma endured by the thousands of Native American families affected over the century. Doing this research may lead to important discoveries and will also serve to strengthen our relationships with Native American groups across the country.

THE PROPOSED MINUTE:

Southeastern Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends of Truth approves responding to the call from the National Native American Boarding School Healing Coalition and the Decolonizing Quakers Working Group as presented by the Committee for Ministry on Racism. We further realize that we have an obligation to this process of investigation and amends regardless of any monetary support we historically may or may not have provided. Beverly Ward, a member of SEYM's Committee for Ministry on Racism, will coordinate the research and report any pertinent findings.

Provisional Report 2024 August 30, 2024

Information and news about Earthcare and climate-related issues have been occasionally shared via e-mail but the committee has not recently met.

In the past several weeks, Brian H's laptop has had a series of issues, including dropped Zoom meetings and word-processing crashes. Online repairs have not resolved them entirely. In-person repairs were completed on August 30, and some critical lists of e-mail addresses were restored. However, Brian has been advised to replace the laptop.

He is now contacting Earthcare committee members to establish regular online meeting times via Zoom.

Ad hoc Quaker Call Committee Report

SEYM Fall Interim Business Meeting

5 Tenth Month 2024

[As referenced in the minutes, above, the Minute establishing the Quaker Call Committee:

23FIBM05 Friends agree to establish an ad hoc Quaker Call Committee. Dan Vaughen agreed to convene the committee, and Eileen Zingaro, Katie Green, Suzanne Frechette, Mercedes Soca, John Palozzi, Barbara Finkelstein, and Amy Richards agreed to serve.
APPROVED]

Since our last report, the SEYM ad hoc Quaker Call Committee has been meeting every two weeks. There are 30 people on our email list. From that group six to twelve people attend each meeting.

We have heard from heads of Quaker schools, from the Executive Director of the Friends Council on Education, from representatives from Monthly Meetings, and from our own members and guests, on topics related to an appropriate response to flagrant legislative assaults on our historic testimonies and values. We believe those assaults present a clear and present danger, not only to our testimonies and values, but also to our constitutional form of government.

Yet we hold to our testimonies of peaceful, non-violent change. We believe those legislative assaults must be actively, but non-violently, resisted. We rely upon the Truth expressed by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., that while the moral arc of the universe may be long, it bends toward justice.

Arising from our regular meetings we have discerned a leading to start a private Quaker school for elementary education. We are considering the new concept of “Micro Schools,” along with other more traditional educational models.

One new Quaker school is actually starting to take shape. A potential model for similar schools elsewhere in Southeastern Yearly Meeting, it is tentatively being called “The Watershed Friends School”. It has progressed to the point of business plan implementation.

The Watershed Friends School will be an independent entity with its own board of directors. It will be responsible for its own function, fundraising, and management.

Sponsored jointly under a Memorandum of Understanding between Fort Myers Monthly Meeting, the Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Fort Myers (the current pastor of which is a former Head of School for the Monteverde, Costa Rica, K-12 Friends School), and – if approved – Southeastern Yearly Meeting. It will receive funds from the Florida Department of Education K-12 Scholarship Programs, from student tuition, and from other public and private sources. A copy of the proposed Memorandum of Understanding is attached. It has been signed by the President of the Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Fort Myers, and by the clerk of Fort Myers Monthly Meeting.

The SEYM Ad hoc Quaker Call Committee is working directly with Friends Council on Education (FCOE), the national member organization for Quaker schools. Friends Council has an onboarding process for new Quaker schools. A copy of their Member Renewal process is attached. Most recently, the FCOE helped start the Lancaster Friends School in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. That school is now in its third year.

Drew Smith, Executive Director of FCOE, has advised us that the oldest Friends School, William Penn Charter School (1689), has never been affiliated with a monthly meeting. Rather it has operated independently with a requirement that a certain portion of the board be members of the Religious Society of Friends.

The next step in the formation of the Watershed Friends School is raising its startup funds. An attorney must be engaged to guide it through the legal requirements. Other professionals will be required to conduct physical assessments and surveys. A Head of School must be engaged to develop its curriculum, hire its teachers, and coordinate its administration. Implementing this next step requires seed money from Southeastern Yearly Meeting.

Our committee accordingly recommends the approval of an amendment to the SEYM Annual Budget in the total amount of Fifteen Thousand Dollars ($15,000) roughly apportioned into three general categories: estimated legal and governmental fees, professional studies and surveys, and employment compensation.

We recommend that those funds be allocated to a new expense line item in the SEYM Annual Budget to which monthly meetings, other public and private entities, and individuals, will be encouraged to donate.

These funds will be received and disbursed upon the approval, and at the direction, of the SEYM Executive Committee, or its designees. They will be reported in transaction detail to SEYM's Winter Interim Business Meeting.

The SEYM ad hoc Quaker Call Committee accordingly recommends approval of the following two Minutes:

First:

The proffered Covenant between Fort Myers Monthly Meeting, the Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Fort Myers, and Southeastern Yearly Meeting, is accepted and approved.

Second:

The Southeastern Yearly Meeting Annual Budget for Fiscal Year 2024-2025 is amended by the addition of a new Line 9000 Expense, "Out To Other Classes", in the amount of Fifteen Thousand Dollars ($15,000), for the purpose of starting an independent Quaker School in Fort Myers, Florida. That amount shall be initially funded by the Trustees. It shall be disbursed or increased by donations from monthly meetings, other public and private entities, and individuals, upon the approval, and at the direction, of the Executive Committee or its designees.

Respectfully Submitted,
Daniel R. Vaughn, clerk

Covenant between and among Fort Myers Monthly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends (Friends), the Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Fort Myers (UU), and the Southeastern Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends (SEYM)

Our Shared Beliefs

UU, Friends, and SEYM (the participating organizations) share many of the same basic beliefs and values. Our purpose for existing as organizations is to nurture the spiritual needs of our members. We also believe in serving our community, especially those who have been forgotten and disadvantaged. We seek peace in the world and a world where we are in harmony with nature. We worship in a different manner and we each have our own cherished traditions and practices, but what unites us is much greater than what separates us. We are stronger when we each succeed.

We recognize the need to work together as the spirit guides us to create a community where we can grow spiritually and where our organizations thrive because of our combined strengths and beliefs. We recognize the spiritual gifts and traditions we bring to this Covenant are our greatest gifts. We believe should any one of our organizations ever cease to exist, a spiritual light would be diminished.

We each have physical gifts we bring to this Covenant. UU owns a beautiful campus they wish to continue to own and develop according to their needs and beliefs. Friends have been gifted the resources to build a unique meeting house, whose design and construction is currently in process, and will reside on the UU campus. This structure will become a valued addition to both faith communities.

Our Current Opportunity

UU, currently in discernment about how to leverage its assets to bless the community and generate sustainable income, has been working with Friends on founding a Quaker school in service to the Southwest Florida (SWFL) community, the first of its kind in all of Florida. By working collaboratively under the advisement and wisdom of SEYM, we can accomplish the following:

- Develop the creativity and discover the inspiration needed to meet this new project.
- We can connect to the wider Quaker community to share resources, deepen our faiths, and, by doing so, we are stronger to advocate for peace, social justice, and sustainability.
- Boldly raise the visibility and brand of open-minded Quaker education, expanding a community of seekers in SWFL;
- Identify a successful Friends school implementation model which other Meetings in Florida (and elsewhere) may choose to follow;
- Leverage the existing classroom resources available on the UU campus to start with a smaller school (e.g. K-4) and a smaller front-end investment, while accumulating reserves over time to expand the number of students that will have access to the new school (K-8); (The UU campus has room for expansion when the time is appropriate.)
- Create a viable learning environment at the UU campus within which students and staff alike can continue to mature as companions in a wide range of experiences, rooted as much in the unseen as the seen, as much in the spiritual as in the physical;
- Offer a Beloved Community within a community that cares deeply about what kind of persons its members, young and old, are becoming, what goals and values are effective in their lives, and what their response is to the high calling of being human;
- Develop SWFL citizens, graduates of our school, who will have a strong sense of social understanding, skills to deal with adversity, tolerance and respect for others, and a strong sense of self-worth so that they have the power needed to succeed.

Our Concerns

Friends and, to a lesser extent, UU have a aging memberships such that the operational energy and administrative oversight needed to complete and operate the new Friends school is likely to come in large part from dedicated supporters from outside the UU and Friends membership communities. Access to such outside, professional support may require additional developmental costs.

Our Intentions

For all the factors stated above, we intend to work diligently together to fashion a relationship and arrangement that can allow us to benefit from our opportunities, meet our concerns, and leverage our strengths for the betterment of our overall mission: to found a long-term viable Quaker school at the UU campus in Fort Myers, FL. We set out to accomplish our intentions in three parts: firstly, with this covenant between and among us, and secondly, with a feasible Friends school development plan, and thirdly, through the robust implementation of the legal, financial, and organizational structures such a plan requires.

Our Covenant is based on our shared spiritual beliefs and trust. As such, we will respect each other and resolve to handle any disputes through the dutiful application of Quaker decision-making principles and the adherence to UU values.

This Covenant shall exist as long as its participating organizations exist and will survive beyond the original signatories. It will end if any participating organization decides it should end.

The QUAKER SELF-STUDY and MEMBERSHIP RENEWAL PROCESS for FRIENDS SCHOOLS

Revised Fall 2021

The Quaker Self-Study and Membership Renewal Process (MRP) is the means by which Friends schools periodically affirm their intention to be guided by the basic tenets of the Religious Society of Friends and demonstrate evidence of putting these Quaker beliefs and principles into practice. Through this process schools maintain their membership in Friends Council on Education. Equally important, however, is the opportunity the MRP provides for schools to pause every so often, reflect meaningfully upon their Quaker underpinnings, celebrate the areas in which they are true to their mission, and discern appropriate next steps in the ongoing effort to live more fully into their identity as Friends schools.

The fundamental and abiding strength of Friends schools is our rootedness in Quaker faith and practice. There is a profound and hopeful ambition in the Quaker vision of schools as spiritual communities. When we approach this potential, our schools are places rich in love, challenge, collaboration, fruitful conflict, and a generative sense of what is possible in ourselves, in the classroom, and in the broader community. Through our work in Friends schools we support both children and adults in bringing the light of the spirit to one another and out into the world.

To engage in the MRP, each school is expected to form a self-study committee that includes representation from all constituent groups – faculty, administration and staff, trustees, parents, alumni/ae, and (as appropriate) students and Friends Meeting members. Over the course of a full year, the committee facilitates study across the school community, examining the school’s policies, practices, protocols, and culture through the lens of Friends Council’s Principles of Good Practice for Friends Schools: Affirming the Quaker Identity. These principles fall under seven dimensions of institutional life, the first six of which are: Mission, Worship, Equity & Justice, Governance, Administrative Leadership, and Program, Curriculum, and Community Life. The aim of the self-study phase of the MRP is for members of the school community to engage in meaningful and generative conversation, to gather or draft documentation that is called for in the MRP guide, and to prepare a report confirming the school’s adherence to Friends Council’s principles of good practice.

The final section of the self-study report - and arguably the most important - is entitled Continuing Revelation. It is here that the school is asked to reflect upon the self-study process itself and describe whatever has been learned through the year’s focused reflection and analysis. In this final section of its report, the school is asked to list a set of next steps that have emerged through the self-study process. In this way the Membership Renewal Process provides a roadmap for a school’s ongoing institutional renewal and growth.

Once this report has been received by Friends Council on Education, the school will be visited by a team of seasoned educators drawn largely from Friends Council member schools who will, in turn, report their observations to Friends Council's Membership Committee. This committee will offer commendations and recommendations back to the school, and to the Friends Council Board, which is ultimately responsible for approving the school's membership renewal.

Our ability to sustain a clear focus on the Quaker identity of our schools comes and goes amidst the many challenges of contemporary institutional life. Indeed, healthy spiritual life in schools seems to unfold in cycles: periods of active focus and attention to this dimension of the community, sharpening our vision, developing key skills, consolidating our efforts of faith and practice, and strengthening the commitment of the community to our most fundamental values. This vital work is often followed by a quieter period of living out the fruits of this labor, using the community's renewed strengths to turn to other important strategic initiatives. In time, the need for a new cycle of community reflection and inquiry into Quaker faith and practice comes around again. Gathering all members of a Friends school community in this reflective work, engaging the full range of voices in this dialogue, and making new the meaning of Friends faith and practice in the life of the school is a process that is forever renewing as new insights and understandings come to light and the community lives into its sharpened identity. Herein lies the essence of the Quaker understanding of "continuing revelation" as applied to our work in Friends schools.

The Principles of Good Practice for Friends Schools, as time-honored and firmly established as they may appear to be, must themselves be subject to continuing revelation, undergoing revision from time to time as new understandings regarding our work in the world emerge. Following events during and after the spring of 2020 in our nation's history, Friends Council was compelled to revise the Principles of Good Practice to articulate more explicitly a commitment to matters of racial, economic, social, and political equity and justice, using the Membership Renewal Process as a vehicle to call Friends schools to a higher standard with regard to these matters than had previously been done. And, while Friends schools have long honored diversity across many dimensions of personal identity - including gender, sexual orientation, family structure, religion, national and ethnic origin, physical and intellectual ability, and more - we recognize that our nation's history with regard to Black and indigenous peoples warrants especially focused attention in the self-study process. In order to redress historical wrongs that span centuries, including within our Friends schools, going forward we are called to redefine our schools as explicitly anti-racist in their policies and practices. The current version of the Principles of Good Practice embodies this deepened commitment to live our Quaker testimonies of integrity, equality, and community to their fullest.

In the process of revisiting these Principles of Good Practice, Friends Council has addressed another pressing issue that must be embraced by our schools in order to prepare our students for responsible and engaged citizenship in the decades ahead: the increasing reality of climate change and the related environmental, political, economic, and social ramifications of this crisis, all of which are deeply intertwined with matters of equity and justice. Over the past decade and more, Friends schools have exercised environmental stewardship in countless ways - whether participating in the work of the Friends Environmental Education Network, incorporating "green" technologies into capital improvement plans, taking steps to reduce their carbon footprint, or establishing policies and practices that model concern for the earth, and more. This updated version of the Principles of Good Practice asks schools to explicitly address this critical aspect of our Quaker testimony of stewardship and environmental justice, describing the steps they have already taken and outlining future initiatives that are being planned.

As this revised version of the Principles of Good Practice is published, Friends Council urges each school, regardless of its place in the cycle of the Membership Renewal Process, to engage with the document - and in particular with the new section on Equity and Justice - during the coming year. While the MRP requires a formal and comprehensive self-study once every ten years, the work of revisiting our Quaker underpinnings, affirming our adherence to core principles and practices, and identifying next steps in living more truly into the mission of Friends education must be an ongoing process, carried out annually in all corners of each Friends school community.

PRINCIPLES of GOOD PRACTICE for FRIENDS SCHOOLS: AFFIRMING the QUAKER IDENTITY

Revised Fall 2021

I. MISSION

Principles

- The school's mission embraces the core tenets of the Religious Society of Friends, including its principles, testimonies, and practices.
- The school's mission supports both the spiritual and the academic formation of its students.
- In keeping with Friends testimonies, the school's mission articulates a commitment to educate its students toward advocacy and agency for greater social, political, economic, and environmental justice in the world at large.
- The school values its interconnectedness with the Religious Society of Friends.

Confirmation

1. Share the school's mission statement, and describe the process by which it was last reviewed and revised.
2. Attach the organizational by-laws or charter that clearly describes the school's affiliation with the Religious Society of Friends.
3. Provide a few examples (brochures, promotional materials, publications, web materials) through which the school's Quaker philosophy and mission are described.
4. Describe how the school maintains a living relationship with the Religious Society of Friends, Quaker meeting communities, Friends organizations, and other Friends schools.
5. Provide a few examples of the school's published documents that illustrate its commitment to the values of diversity, equity, justice, environmental stewardship and sustainability. Further, describe the adoption and implementation of strategic initiatives that address the school's commitment to these principles.

II. Worship

Principles

- Meeting for worship in the manner of Friends is fundamental to the Quaker essence and character of the school, and is fully articulated, understood, and embraced as central to the school's mission and philosophy.
- The school holds meeting for worship in the manner of Friends in a developmentally appropriate way at least weekly, as well as on special occasions.
- The school's meeting for worship honors the diversity of religious identities within its community and in the world at large while at the same time embodying Quaker faith and practice.

Confirmation

1. Describe the yearly calendar for weekly meetings for worship, and those held on special occasions (e.g. opening day, baccalaureate, commencement, etc.).
2. Briefly describe how each constituency group in the school is oriented to and educated about the spiritual underpinnings, purpose, and practice of meeting for worship.
3. Relate one (or two) stories that illustrate how meeting for worship has recognized and honored religious diversity within and beyond the school community.
4. If the school uses a different term for its meeting for worship, briefly describe the reasons for the community's particular language.

III. Equity and Justice

Principles

- The school's mission encompasses a vision of community that embraces diversity, equity, justice, inclusion, and promotes a sense of belonging for all.
- The school commits resources to sustaining a diverse and inclusive community.
- The school engages in an ongoing analysis of both its history and its current operations and is committed to uncovering and redressing the ways in which it has explicitly or inadvertently reinforced racist or similarly biased structures and practices.
- At all levels of its operations - from its governance, administrative structures, admissions, financial aid, hiring, and personnel policies, including faculty/staff evaluation practices, to its finances, business practices, and constituent relations - the school exercises its commitment to furthering diversity and upholding equity, justice, and inclusion.
- The school's program and curriculum is explicitly anti-bias and anti-racist, addressing - in age-appropriate ways - the history and contemporary ramifications of systemic oppression, bias and prejudice, and political, social, and economic power dynamics.
- The school provides regular opportunities for trustees, faculty, staff, students, parents, and alumni to engage in meaningful education, reflection, communication, and action with regard to matters of diversity, equity, justice, and inclusion.

- The school is committed to holding itself and its community members accountable in regard to matters of diversity, equity, justice, and inclusion.

Confirmation

1. Share the school’s published statements, policies, or procedures that demonstrate the school’s commitment to diversity, equity, and justice.
2. Describe three to five institutional structures or practices that illustrate the school’s existing commitment to diversity, equity, and a sense of belonging for all members of the community.
3. Describe recent institutional initiatives, across the full range of school operations - from administrative policies and practices to program and curricular reform - that illustrate the school’s continuing effort to become a more diverse, equitable, inclusive, and just community.
4. Describe the channels through which people of color and other affinity groups within the community - including current students, faculty, staff, and parents, as well as alumni and former employees - have opportunities to connect with one another, affirm their identity, share experiences, voice concerns, and bring matters forward for consideration by the school’s administration.
5. Describe efforts by the school to expand faculty, staff, and student racial diversity. Include data to demonstrate the results of those efforts.
6. Describe a recent challenge that has called the school to redress a matter of injustice from the past or the present.

IV. Governance

Principles

- The school is in a vibrant care relationship with a monthly meeting, or its board membership includes sufficient representation of Quakers to model, support, articulate and advocate for the school’s continuing Quaker identity.
- All board members, regardless of religious affiliation, embrace their responsibility to be ambassadors of and advocates for the school’s Quaker mission.
- The board emphasizes the centrality of the school’s Quaker mission and identity, as well as its commitment to diversity and inclusion, as it seeks new members and appoints its leaders.
- The board provides robust trustee orientation around Quakerism in general, Friends decision-making, and other practices followed within a Quaker meeting for business.
- The board’s governance structure includes a subcommittee that is charged with overseeing, evaluating, and providing ongoing trustee education regarding the school’s Quaker identity.
- The board’s governance structure is charged with overseeing, evaluating, and providing ongoing trustee education regarding the school’s commitment to matters of diversity, equity, and social justice.
- As it exercises its responsibility for fiduciary and strategic planning, the board holds both the school’s Quaker identity and its commitment to matters of diversity, equity, and environmental justice as essential elements in both the content and the implementation of new initiatives.

Confirmation

1. Describe the process by which the board recruits members of the Religious Society of Friends as trustees.
2. Describe the process by which the board recruits trustees who will bring a range of diverse backgrounds, perspectives, and lived experience to the stewardship of the school.
3. Provide a list of the school’s current trustees, indicating any Quaker affiliation as well as any other relevant information to demonstrate the range of perspectives represented on the board of trustees.
4. Describe the board’s orientation protocols to introduce new trustees to Quakerism, Quaker-based decision-making, and other practices peculiar to the Society of Friends.
5. List the Quaker-related board development and other networking opportunities attended by board members during the past three years, e.g. Friends Council workshops and peer networks meetings, etc.
6. Name the board subcommittee charged with overseeing the school’s adherence to its Quaker identity. Describe recent work that has been carried out by this committee.
7. Describe the school’s governance and administrative structure that is charged with overseeing the school’s commitment to diversity, equity, and justice and name the committee or work group charged with accomplishing this task.
8. List the Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging-related board development and other networking opportunities attended by board members during the past three years.
9. Describe a recent challenge faced by the board of trustees that was resolved through a Quaker-based process of discernment and decision-making.
10. Describe recent trustee development work, a policy decision, or a strategic initiative undertaken by the full board of trustees that moved the school forward in its commitment to equity and justice.

V. Administrative Leadership

Principles

- The head of school models the use of sound Quaker practices, and is a primary ambassador of and advocate for the school’s Quaker identity.
- Other key leaders in the school are also responsible for understanding, communicating, and supporting the school’s Quaker identity in developing and implementing programs.
- The head of school is responsible for the orientation of faculty, staff, and other key administrators in Quaker tenets and practices. Further, the head of school leads the school community through processes that ensure both personal and institutional continuing revelation.
- For schools that are in a care relationship with a Friends meeting, the head of school, together with the board clerk and the clerk of meeting, actively participates in relationship-building with the Meeting.
- The school’s administrative leadership participates in and facilitates ongoing professional development work for all school personnel in the areas of equity, justice, and environmental literacy.
- The school’s business policies and practices reflect an understanding of the complexities of economic and social justice.

Confirmation

1. Briefly describe how the school attracts Quaker administrators, faculty and staff and orients all to Quakerism, Quaker-based decision-making and meeting for worship.
2. Give a recent example of the head of school, and also at least one key administrator, using Quaker-based decision-making for a major decision.
3. List Quaker-related professional development and networking opportunities attended by the head, faculty and other key leaders during the past three years, e.g. Friends Council workshops and peer network meetings, etc.
4. Describe the school's efforts, including its challenges, to attract and retain faculty and staff of diverse backgrounds.
5. Describe the school's efforts, including its challenges, to attract and retain families from diverse backgrounds and a range of socioeconomic levels.
6. Describe recent professional development initiatives, both mandatory and optional, designed to increase the equity, justice, and environmental literacy of both faculty and staff.
7. Share one or two areas of substantive growth and opportunity for the school as it seeks to become a more inclusive, socially and environmentally responsible community.

VI. Program, Curriculum, and Community Life

Principles

- Friends' tenets, testimonies, and principles are at the core of all aspects of school life and inform the program, the curriculum, and the school's relationship to the wider community.
- Students are introduced through the program and curriculum to the practices, beliefs, and traditions of Quakerism and are guided to understand these principles at the root of the school's community life.
- Visible in the school's ethos is a culture of respect demonstrating the belief that there is that of God in every person.
- The school's program, curriculum, and pedagogy is characterized by a culture of inquiry-based, reflective practice consistent with Friends' ongoing search for truth.
- The school has a fundamental commitment to be an inclusive community grounded in respect for each of its members. The religious, cultural, ethnic, racial pluralism of the school community provides an opportunity to foster the religious and spiritual formation of people from a variety of religious backgrounds.
- Community outreach, service-learning, and other forms of community involvement are tangible expressions of the school's Quaker identity and are essential elements of a student's educational experience at all levels.

Confirmation

1. Share two or three stories that exemplify ways in which the school fosters a sense of community in which all students, faculty/staff, and parents have the opportunity to be authentically seen, heard, and valued, and all experience a sense of true belonging.
2. Describe how the school orients students and parents unfamiliar with Friends faith and practice to Quakerism, Quaker pedagogical approaches, Quaker-based decision-making, and the school’s overall Quaker identity.
3. Describe the ways in which students are grounded in the school’s Quaker identity through the teaching of accountability, responsibility, reflection, respect, and non-violent conflict resolution.
4. Give a few examples of how Quaker history, practice, and testimonies are embedded and taught in the academic program.
5. Briefly describe how Quakers and Quaker organizations are integrated into school life.
6. Identify ways in which the program and curriculum introduce students to world faith traditions, global studies, multicultural experience, ethics and moral reasoning, and the role of religion in historical and contemporary contexts.
7. Identify two or three ways in which issues of equity and justice are woven into the school’s program and curriculum. Further, in what areas do you plan growth?
8. Describe some elements of the program and curriculum that are intended to develop students’ environmental literacy and conscience.
9. Describe or provide documentation of the school’s service learning/community engagement/community outreach program.

VII. Continuing Revelation

It is expected that out of the self-study process will emerge new insights about what a school’s Quaker identity and commitments call us to do. In this section, describe what has been revealed as particular strengths of the school, plus areas that need to be more fully addressed. In short, what has been learned and what are the school’s growing edges? Provide an annotated list of three to five initiatives that will be undertaken in the coming years, weaving into these action steps evidence of continued growth in embracing the school’s Quaker identity, its commitment to diversity, equity, inclusion, and justice, and its work to support a more environmentally sustainable future for our planet.

QUNO Representative Report
SEYM Fall Interim Business Meeting
5 Tenth Month 2024

Dear Friends,

As the time approaches for the Fall Interim Business Meeting on October 4th, 2024, I find I must make a formal request for release from the position of SEYM QUNO Representative due to relocation, change of Meeting membership, and family needs.

Thank you for the opportunity to serve in this position.

*Love,
Liz Jenkins*
